About A. Rotz

Adam Rotzenberg (Born September 10, 1990), better known by his stage name A.ROTZ, is an American recording lyricist that was raised in Green Bay, Wisconsin - currently residing in Houston, Texas. As a talent musician A. Rotz expresses falling in love with music during his "Barney" Band-Aid days - The energy, pure emotion, vibes and overall way it can change an individual's mood sparked his attraction to music.

In 2013, A. Rotz released debut EP "A.ROTZ the Artist" on DatPiff and since released videos and singles online leading up to his next projects. He has opened up for Pleasure P (Pretty Ricky), Lil Durk, Rico Love, and few others - headlining multiple sold out shows with 95.9 KISS FM undiscovered.

Since October 2017, A. Rotz has released track "Shoulda Known That" on all digital platform along with a creative visual attracting music lovers from all walks of life!
